Well the stranger and I fell into an easy strain of conversation as we rode to great any one and in ten minutes I began to enjoy his company. He was a well-made fellow, finely dressed, and he wore a fine watch and a simon-pure diamond ring. I never saw a man who diamond ring. I never saw a man who could talk so easy and pleasantly. It seemed that he had but to open his mouth and the words tell right out.

I was also pieased, if any one had told me, as we got into the buggy, that George Raleigh meant to return with my money in his pocket and my blood upon his hands, I should have believed him a lumatic. And yet George Raleigh had planned that very thing.

It was a lovely day it finne, and the cool breeze and the sight of meadows and green groves made my heart grow the neatter as if it were a regular trans-

I was sitting in a passenger coach, on a Wisconsin railroad, one day, on a Wisconsin railroad, one day, on a Wisconsin railroad, one day, on a good-looking, pleassant-spoken man came along, stopped at my seat, and the above conversation took place, the latter part of trafter I had given him part of my seat.

Now, I am regarded as a social man.

I like a joke; a good hit, and I think a sour, morose man, who uses his tongue only when forced to, is bound to die of some terrible disease, and to go to some place of red-hot punishment.

On entering a railroad car I always look about for a talkative man, and then I get as close to him as possible, and drain him dry, if the journey is long enough.

Each had planned that very thing.

It was a lovely day it fane, and the sould leave them for you.

then I get as close to him as possible, and drain him dry, if the journey is long enough.

And I want to state one thing more:

Heft an orphan before I could realize the event which had made me one, I got kicked out here and cuffed there, and "grew up between folks," as they say. I ought to have had at the time of which I write a pretty thorough knowledge of human nature, and have been enabled to read evii in a man's hearty.

I then I get as close to him as possible, and fact, I detested the sight and smell of anything intoxicating. But I had not the moral courage to tell him so and to hand back the flask undisturbed. I feared to offend him, and so I drank perhaps three good and so I drank perhaps three good and you minded your business on the car and not been so free with a stranger, this would not have happened.
